BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

A color scheme of green and white greeted the many guests who attended a particularly pretty party honoring Louise Gwyn. Dismukes. The party, a tea shower, was held at the home of Mrs. M. J. Lee on Friday afternoon, Sept. 6. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Gethal Pinkard, Judy Pinkard, and Marilyn Lee. Colored bouquets of roses were placed in the reception rooms and gift rooms. The dining room buffet held a large arrangement of white stock and tuberoses interspersed with pink hearts. Mint green candies burning in crystal candle-holders flanked the flowers. The guests were greeted by Mrs. Lee, who presented them to the receiving line, which was composed of Mrs. Dismukes, mother of honoree, Miss Louise Gwyn Dismukes, Miss Carolyn Howard, bride-elect, and Mary John Taylor Howard, recent bride.

The refreshments were served by Suzanne Hayes, and Jeanice Paul, Tulsa Dismukes, and Mary Ann Riley who were a decorative note themselves. In their pastel evening dresses, the guests and Marilyn Lee, and Louise Ann Sawyer, assisted by showing the gifts to the guests. Carolyn Deal presented a program of background music at the piano.

An outdoor supper honored Martha and "Bert" Hix who are visiting her parents, the J. V. Wrights. Martha, who makes her home in Delaware now, was entertained by Marjorie and Frank Rainier, with the latter presiding over the barbeque.

Farm News and Reports

SOIL BANK PLAN BENEFITS MORE THAN ONE WAY

Farmers who put land in the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve program stand to benefit in more than one way. Lester Gunter, Chairman of the Coffee County Agricultural Stabilization Committee pointed out today.

Gunter said that many farmers with recent experience with such hazards as droughts will have a special interest in a secondary but very important income-protection advantage of the program. He explained that farmers who put acreage in reserve are guaranteed substantial income for this land even if later on natural disasters hit their farms. Other farmers with limited financial resources or other debts are finding this overall income insurance an important protection while it is available.

SOME PASTURES YIELD DOUBLE IN THIS STATE

AUBURN—Many Alabama farmers are getting a double yield from grazing land. The double benefits come from growing cool weather grazing crops on Coastal Bermudas.

API Extension Agronomist O. N. Andrews explained that two different ways to seed and grow the Coastal Bermuda stand. These two methods are sod seeding and overseeding.

Sod seeding Coastal stands is a relatively new practice. But Andrews reported that it is growing among the farmers. These farmers use sod seeders to plant oats, wheat, rye or legumes on well-established Coastal.

These crops produce late winter and spring grazing or even good yields of grain. The big advantage of sod seeding over the older practice of overseeding is that it takes only one operation for both the seed and fertilizer. In addition, the sod is disturbed very little.

Andrews said the legumes will add nitrogen to the soil which stimulates the growth of Coastal Bermuda. He suggested growing reseeding crimson clover or vetch on upland pastures and white clover on moist bottom lands.

Both planting systems call for the Coastal Bermuda to be mowed or grazed heavily just before the first killing frost. If sod seeders and small grain crops are on the docket, Andrews recommended planting 100 pounds of oats, wheat or rye per acre, with row spacing ranging between eight and 20 inches. However, the sod damage will be less when winter crops are planted.

Despite these side benefits, Mr. Gunter emphasized, the main purpose of the Acreage Reserve is to help cut down the surplus of farm products that are depressing the producers' market prices for agricultural products.

Cotton gin trash is an excellent material for mowing compost, according to a recent report from the Louisiana Experiment Station.

The average Alabama farm sold $1,716 worth of products during 1954 according to the Census of Agriculture. But 88 percent of Alabama farms had electricity, 16 percent telephones, and 43 percent automobiles.

A Word For TODAY...

OUT ON A LIMB

By Sammy McCulloch

Of Zeke was never one to waste words. When he wandered into the woods one day and didn't go home for supper, his grandson went to fetch him. The lad found Zeke standing in a clump of bushes. "Gin' die, grandpa," the boy said. "Yep, 'Am 'n' you hungry?" "Yep, 'Comin' home, then?" "Nop." "Why not?" "Can't." "Why can't you?" "Standin' in a box trap."

Most folks who grow timber on their wood lots figure it's cheaper to cut it themselves than sell it to an outside operator. For one thing, you can cut wood any time you want to—such as during the slack season. Besides, most fellers are more careful if they're cutting their own trees. They'll want to get the timbering done before the weather changes and the wood without damaging the younger trees, and that's mighty important. Cause good forest management depends on repeated cutting, year after year!

Here's a surprise! A fire in Northern Wisconsin in early October killed 1,200 people—but hardly anybody heard about it. Know why? Cause on that same night—October 18th—Mrs. O'Leary's cow knocked over the lantern and set fire to Chicago. And, although the Wisconsin fire killed four and set fire to Chicago, it was overlooked in the excitement.

Fire can be mighty dangerous for a Tree Farm, too. I find it's well worth the time and trouble to build fire lanes through my woods, and to keep grass free away!

So long! See you soon!

MORE MILK IS PRODUCED AND CONSUMED HERE

AUBURN—More milk, more meat, more food, more life, is the motto of the Alabama dairyman. And more milk it is, as Alabama dairymen increase milk production and throughout the state.

This week API Extension Dairyman John Parrish revealed that state dairymen are producing enough milk to meet the needs of Alabama's great consumption. And he declared these dairymen will keep pace with the growing demand of the future.

In 1956 milk production in Alabama increased 10.75 percent over the year before and was valued at $1,716,000. This is a record for the state, and it is at least that much.

According to figures released by the state Milk Control Board a total of 495,375,661 pounds of milk was produced in Alabama during 1956.

In fact, API Extension Dairy Marketing Specialist Anna Ezell this week expressed the opinion that the new Compulsory Milk Inspection Program will help strengthen Alabama's milk industry in the top producing states in the country.

He explained that two-thirds of Alabama's broilers are shipped to other states, which means practically every processor comes under the new program. And much of these shipments are to markets in cities with strict quality regulations. Then, too, the state has no serious infestations of poultry diseases and parasites where the new program could erase the broiler industry from an entire area.

For another thing, Ezell said, the new law puts poultry meat in a more competitive position among the consumers with red meats such as beef and pork, these meats came under federal inspection in 1907. Buyers will have more confidence in the quality and wholesomeness of poultry meat when it bears

Q. Is it proper for a young woman to sign a business letter as Miss Margaret Benton?

A. Yes, but the "Miss" should be enclosed in parentheses.

Q. Is it proper to send formal invitations to christening?

A. No, because only the family and the very few intimate friends are supposed to be invited.

Q. I was widowed several months ago, and a friend has told me I am supposed either to discard my wedding ring or wear it on my right ring finger. What is correct?

A. You certainly are NOT compelled to do either of these. You may continue to wear your wedding ring for as long as you wish.

Q. What is the proper order of recession of the end of a wedding ceremony in the church?

A. Just the reverse of the entrance of the wedding party. The bride and groom, followed by the bridesmaids and ushers.

Q. When applause is served with pork, should it be eaten with a spoon or fork?

A. It is better to use the fork. Q. What form should a new-laid couple use when accepting invitations to a reception, after they have returned from their honeymoon?

A. They may either mail the engraved kind of invitation, or if the affair is to be informal one, they may telephone their invitations.

Council Votes Money For Record School Enrollment

2-CENT GAS TAX SET ASIDE FOR SCHOOL FUNDS

Elba City Schools got underway this week for the 1957-58 school year with a record enrollment, overcrowded school buildings, and a 2-cent gas tax set aside for school funds.

Superintendent Sam J. Casey said the total enrollment for the year so far is 1,235 which is 147 over that of last year with more students still to enroll.

Emergency Session
The Fifth Grade of Elementary School felt the greatest impact of more numerous students with 98 children enrolled for only two teachers in the school. The school board last night called an emergency session to hire an additional teacher in the face of a bleak financial outlook.

Mrs. Eric F. Paul was employed as the third teacher for the Fifth Grade and Monday night the entire school board went before City Council to ask for increased funds.

More Next Year
Chairman James J. Wise told Council that school enrollment is expected to continue to increase in Elba in the face of larger families and the need for additional classrooms and no money in sight with which to provide for them.

After a lengthy discussion Council voted to set aside all money collected from the motor-gallon gasoline tax with in the city to be used for the schools. Present were Mayor H. C. Taylor and Councilmen Boswell, Johnson, Hawkins, DeVane and City Attorney C. L. Rowe.

Members of the School Board who appeared before Council with Mr. Wise were: H. B. Larkin, Burton Fick, James R. Martin, Fleetwood S. Carney and Superintendent Sam J. Casey.

Mr. Casey said Elba High School this year had 410 enrolled compared with 363 last year. Elementary School 323 students compared with 475 last year, and the Negro High School 480 this year compared with 350 last year.
